Product Description

The Geko 301 offers all software and hardware features of the popular Geko 201, including a built-in electronic compass, which provides bearing information while you're standing still. The barometric altimeter determines your precise altitude. It also provides a digital readout of such data as ascent and descent rate, total climb distance and vertical speed. Geko 301 can also plot pressure trends for a 12-hour period, allowing the user to anticipate changing weather conditions.
