Product Description

The Forerunner 301 takes the training experience of the Forerunner 201 to the next level by integrating a continuous heart rate monitor. The heart rate can be used as a measurement of exercise intensity and an accurate way to gauge performance. Having the ability to analyse workout data is an important tool in reaching one's fitness goals. That's why the Forerunner 301 comes with the Garmin Training Center software, which allows users to download workout data to their PC for a detailed analysis. Users can also create workouts on the PC and transfer them to the 301.
